

---

Certificate of Completion

Social Thinking Webinar

Social Detective Thinking to Start the School Year

60 minutes, or 1 contact hours, of instruction. The original webinar took place September 14, 2023. The recording is available to be watched any time at www.socialthinking.com/webinars

Explore the world of social observation and learn how it lays the foundation for better interpersonal relationships and academic learning. Understanding what it means to be a Social Detective (social observer), especially during the start of a new school year, is crucial to navigating change, academic learning, making friends & more. In this free webinar, we'll explore the highly accessible and easy-to-embed You Are a Social Detective! Curriculum & Teaching Guide. You'll watch a curriculum lesson taught by a mainstream third-grade teacher, peruse curriculum-generated student work, and discover innovative ways to adapt these social learning concepts for the secondary grades.

In this free webinar, we'll help you and your students get back to school with powerful social, emotional, and academic learning and an easy-to-embed curriculum to learn how to become Social Detectives at school, at home, and within the community. Join us as we:

- Learn about the importance of social observation in the classroom, home and beyond.
- Explore what it really means to be a social observer or Social Detective and why the beginning of the school year is the ideal time to teach this concept.
- Gain ideas for teaching across multiple tiers of instruction from the You are a Social Detective! Teaching Curriculum & Teaching Guide
  - Zoom into a lesson to watch how a third-grade teacher introduces a concept to her class.
  - Check out examples of student work.
  - Explore some ideas of how these concepts can mature into the secondary grades.

---

Participant

Elena Samsonova

---

Elena Samsonova, Director of Conference Planning & Continuing Education